Dear Youth Organisation,

The topic of relationships is a topic of great interest to young people. We believe that youth have a right to discuss healthy and unhealthy relationships in a safe, nurturing space. We also believe that stereotypes and common misconceptions must be challenged for continued learning and personal social development. Therefore, our aim is to educate youth about the causes of abuse and coercion in intimate relationships and the gender stereotypes that cause and perpetuate them.

We are offering your youth group an interesting and fun 2 hour workshop on gender roles, healthy relationships, rape myths and media literacy. During the workshop, youths will participate in activities and group work that will boost team-building skills and encourage dialogue. Through the activities, participants will learn to identify problematic elements in relationships, and how to get help. Participants will also learn how to be more critical of the media they consume, especially media that objectifies women and men or imparts dangerous messages about relationships and gender roles.

The Workshop Facilitators:

Elaine Compagno is a service coordinator at St Jeanne Antide Foundation. She has often collaborated with Aleksandar in other workshops. Elaine has received varied overseas training on youth-focused informal learning, local training in violence prevention, workshop/ training design and public speaking. She has a Diploma in Youth and Community Studies and a Diploma in Gender and Development Studies.

Aleksandar Dimitrijevic is the president of the NGO Men Against Violence. MAV is a member of international organization Men Engage. Aleksandar is a Gender Studies PhD candidate, and has received specialist training in engaging boys and men in the prevention of violence by foreign experts in the field. He is also on the board of the Women's Rights Foundation.
